

Time to Halt Disrespect of Rich Class for Dry and Other U. S. Laws

JOHN G. SARGENT

Attorney General in Vigorous Assault on Flouters of the Constitution—Warns of Chaos if Evil Is Not Stopped—Speaks at Pittsfield War Memorial Dedication

Pittsfield, Mass., July 8.—(P)—Constitution "flouters" were assailed by Attorney General Sargent in an address here today at the dedication of a war memorial with a warning that "there is being sown a wind from which we shall reap a whirlwind."

Criticizing "men of wealth and influence who take occasion not only to violate the law themselves but to heap disparagement and insult upon the officials engaged in its administration and enforcement," Mr. Sargent declared that "such conduct has but one tendency—to sap the vitals of our government, of our country."

The speech constituted one of the most vigorous assaults on violators of prohibition and other laws made by the attorney general, who has shown considerable concern over this situation in recent addresses. He coupled with an appeal that the federal government be relieved of further proposals for extension of its authority. Declaring that disrespect of the law

MacMillan Party Due at Hopedale, Labrador, Today

Chicago, July 8.—(P)—The Bowdoin, carrying the Rawson-MacMillan sub-Arctic expedition of the field museum, slowly approaching Hopedale in Labrador, is feeling its way along Indian Tickle, a great uncharted inland waterway, radio advice to D. C. Davies, director of the field museum, said today.

The party expected to arrive in Hopedale, tomorrow. The expedition left Wiscasset, Maine, on June 19, has encountered foggy and disagreeable weather. Commander Donald MacMillan, in charge of the expedition reported.

Steamer Cooma Ashore on Reef Of Queensland, Aus.

London, July 8.—(P)—A Lloyd's despatch from Melbourne, Australia, says the steamer Cooma has gone ashore on the north reef of Queensland. The passengers and crew were saved.

The Cooma is a steel steamer of 34,329 gross tons, built in 1917 at Glasgow. She is owned by the Australian Steamships Proprietary, Ltd., and her home port is Melbourne.

9 Killed in Fight Over Canvassing Returns Mexico City

Mexico City, July 8.—(P)—Manuel Espino, socialist congressional candidate and eight others were killed and fourteen wounded in a fight over canvassing election returns at Doctores Hidalgo, says a dispatch to El Universal.

Postpone Habeas Corpus in Ponzi Case

Houston, Tex., July 8.—(P)—Dist. Judge Walter E. McTeeth today announced postponement of the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Charles Ponzi, held here on a fugitive warrant from Massachusetts until after the extradition hearing at Austin Saturday before Governor Miriam E. Ferguson. The habeas corpus hearing had been set for tomorrow. Ponzi hopes to gain his liberty by habeas corpus should the governor grant extradition.

Two Mystery Women Developed in Trial Budlong for Divorce

Newport, R. I., July 8.—(P)—Milton J. Budlong's relations with two mystery women, Mrs. Budlong's attempt to obtain an introduction for her daughter at the Court of St. James, and the moral effects of Mrs. Budlong's "shirking episode" on her husband, featured today's on Budlong's petition for divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

Abbott Phillips, counsel for Budlong, spent an hour on the stand reviewing the Budlongs' difficulties, which have resulted in two unsuccessful suits for separation by Mrs. Budlong and the present hearing.

Describing the time when Mrs. Budlong barricaded herself in her husband's New York apartment and answered threats and entreaties on notes pinned to her husband's shirts and tossed from the window, Phillips declared:

"Mrs. Budlong once told me that her only weapon against her husband was publicity. During those days Mrs. Budlong was pointed out in Hotel dining rooms and by taxicab drivers and others when he ventured on the street. She would not let him be seen without her. She would not let him be seen without her."

"Mrs. Budlong, acting as her own counsel since she summarily dismissed her attorney last Tuesday, brought out some of her blasted social ambitions while cross examining Oscar L. Halkey, a business associate of her husband."

"Didn't Congressman Fuller promise you he would help us socially when you intervened for us (in Washington)?"

"Yes."

"Didn't he promise to assist in having my daughter, Frances, introduced at the Court of St. James?"

A "Mrs. X" lobbied up in the case today to take her place beside "Mrs. X," mentioned yesterday, and Budlong's relations with her formed the basis of much of his cross examination at the hands of his wife.

Brunswick Boy Drowned in Waters of Waterworks Pond

(Special to the Kennebec Journal)

Brunswick, July 8.—Lawrence Ouellette, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ouellette of Westminster avenue, was drowned while bathing with a group of boys at the so-called Waterworks Pond on the River road here this afternoon. The boy, who was a poor swimmer, is said to have started to swim across the pond at a place he thought was shallow and stepped into deep water before he realized his danger. His companions did not miss him for several minutes. His body was recovered about three hours after the drowning. He was one of several children.

Asleep in Grass Badly Hurt When Run Over by Auto

Lewiston, Me., July 8.—(P)—While asleep in the tall grass of the dooryard at the home of Charles Merrill of Hopedale, Maine, a 10-year-old boy was run over today by a car driven by Warren F. Keating of New York City, a summer resident at Bear Pond, and probably fatally injured. He sustained a broken arm, fracture of the pelvis, body bruises and internal hurts. He was brought to a Lewiston hospital.

Wounds Wife, Kills Self After Quarrel

St. Johnsbury, Vt., July 8.—(P)—Walter C. Smith of Lyndonville is dead and his wife is at a hospital with a bullet wound in the breast as a result of a quarrel. The shooting occurred in Bradford yesterday where Mrs. Smith was employed as a housekeeper.

According to the story in the hands of the police Smith dragged his wife from the house, shot her and then turned on himself. Mrs. Smith was expected to recover. The couple had not lived together since last spring.

Marine Killed by Bullet of Own Rifle

Newport, R. I., July 8.—(P)—Private Fred Blair of Indiana, member of the U. S. marine corps attached to the navy war college, was shot through the head by his own rifle in barracks today and died almost at once. A board of inquiry was appointed to determine whether the shooting was accidental or intentional. Blair was alone in the barracks when the accident occurred. He had been in the marine corps for several years, and saw service during the war.

The Day in Washington

The shipping board unseated Elton Crowley as president of the Fleet Corporation and appointed General A. C. Dalton.

Pennsylvania Republican primary expenditures tabulated by the senate campaign funds committee totaled $2,739,582.

The department of justice ruled the government without authority to regulate radio in the absence of definite legislation.

Oral arguments on the Norfolk and Western proposal to lease the Virginian Railway were resumed before the interstate commerce committee.

Dismissal Comes Without Previous Notice—Board Removes by Accepting Resignation Filed When Sworn in Nine Months Ago—Successor Is Brigadier General and Assistant Quartermaster of Army

Washington, July 8.—(P)—Captain Elmer E. Crowley joined the growing ranks of ex-presidents of the Emergency Fleet Corporation today when the shipping board, without previous notice, at a suddenly called special meeting, and by a vote of four to two, removed him from office and elected in his stead Brig. Gen. A. C. Dalton, until today assistant quartermaster general of the army.

The removal was accomplished by accepting the resignation which Crowley was required to file with the board when he was sworn in nine months ago to succeed Rear Admiral Leigh Palmer, also removed by the board. Demands made of Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the board by Admiral Benson and Vice Chairman Plummer for a statement of the reason for accepting the resignation went unanswered, and Commissioners Teller, Walsh (who seconded the motion) and Hill voted with the chairman to terminate Crowley's service "effective at once."

The special meeting was called by Crowley.

Leaders Promise "Something Startling" In N. Y. Subway Strike

New York, July 8.—(P)—The subway strike approached a crisis today. Strike leaders claimed that all Interborough power house play would be joined in the next 48 hours. Asked if officials issued an ultimatum that strikers failing to return to their jobs by Monday will be permanently replaced by new men.

Edward P. Lavin, one of the strike leaders, announced today that there would be "something of a startling nature" in the next 48 hours. Asked if this promised development was to do with a possible settlement he replied "Perhaps."

Subway service has been confined to motormen and switchmen on the Interborough subway, the city's main underground arteries.

The possibility that the cabinet would be withdrawn was based upon announcements that plans to hang crepe on the American flag in honor of the late George Washington had been modified. Final details of the demonstration program are to be arranged tomorrow.

Part of the plan is for a delegation of the American volunteers to be stationed before the Place des Etats-Unis and receive a wreath from the French veterans' association as it marches past.

Rockefeller, 87, Expects to Be Golfing When Is Century Old

Tarrytown, N. Y., July 8.—(P)—A game of golf and a ride through the Westchester hills were the high spots today in John D. Rockefeller's observance of his 87th birthday.

The day was spent for the most part in quiet at his Pocantico Hills estate, in the company of his family and friends.

After a light breakfast Mr. Rockefeller, as is his custom, retired to his study and attended to his business affairs. Then he played his daily game of golf, the pastime he expects to carry him to the century point. His opponent was W. O. Inglis, who is writing his biography.

In the evening a birthday dinner in the Rockefeller home was attended by old friends and relatives.

Gleszer Named Judge of Municipal Court in City Bangor

Governor Brewster, Thursday, nominated Edward I. Gleszer of Bangor as judge of the municipal court of that city to succeed Judge William L. Butterfield whose term is expiring.

Mr. Gleszer is the present recorder of that court and to succeed him as recorder, Captain George Sinclair was yesterday nominated by the governor.

Governor Brewster renominated yesterday, Philmore P. Harris of Biddeford as recorder of the Biddeford municipal court.

MacMillan Ships Making Good Progress

Portland, Me., July 8.—(P)—Lieut. Commander Donald B. MacMillan and the members of his sub-Arctic expedition passed the Fourth at Battle Harbor, Labrador.

In a message, received here today, the explorer said the schooner Bowdoin and Sachem had a beautiful run from Bay of Islands, on the west coast of Newfoundland. "Everyone is thoroughly enjoying the trip, even the three girls," he added.

The young women mentioned are Mrs. Rowe B. Metcalf of Providence, R. I. wife of the owner of the Sachem, Miss Marion Smith of Wiscasset and Miss Maud Fisher of New York.

Another Rum Ship Is Held at Boston With $180,000 Cargo

British Schooner Sunner Seized Off Cape Cod by Custom Officials—Loaded at Halifax, Was on Way to Havana—Customs Men Expect to Prove Law Violation—Continued Search of Cretan Bares Nearly 80,000 Gallons Alcohol Worth Half Million

Boston, July 8.—(P)—Liquor valued at well over $500,000 was under seizure here tonight and two vessels, victims of customs and coastguard vigilance, were under detention with their crews. The schooner Sunner, seized 9 miles off Cape Cod last night and towed here today, yielded $150,000 worth of alcohol and whiskey and the steamer Cretan, searched yesterday and at her dock, was believed to contain nearly 80,000 gallons worth $500,000.

The Sunner, a British three-master, was one of seven ships reported yesterday on a newly formed Rum Row. According to the ship's papers, she loaded her cargo at Halifax, was and was destined for Havana. Her case was under investigation, and customs officials expect in the event of proving law violation to institute forfeiture proceedings.

The schooner formerly sailed as the Cretan. The Top and under that name was seized in October, 1924.

Anti-Demonstration Planned for Sunday In Paris Over Debt

Paris, July 8.—(P)—French veterans of the World War today held a meeting at which M. Durand, minister of the interior, would withdraw his prohibition against a proposed demonstration Sunday in opposition to ratification of the American debt accord.

The Association of American Volunteers in the parade against which Ambassador Herriot had protested as an insult to the United States, was missing from his home last night that participation was not intended to place them on record either for or against ratification, but merely to relieve the American aspect of the demonstration.

Members of the American Legion resident in Paris probably will not be asked to join the parade, as they are veterans of the American military forces and might consider participation compromising.

The possibility that the cabinet would be withdrawn was based upon announcements that plans to hang crepe on the American flag in honor of the late George Washington had been modified. Final details of the demonstration program are to be arranged tomorrow.

Part of the plan is for a delegation of the American volunteers to be stationed before the Place des Etats-Unis and receive a wreath from the French veterans' association as it marches past.

Bluehill Captain Killed by Fall Into Chain Locker Tuesday

Norfolk, Va., July 8.—(P)—Capt. Frank K. Perkins of Blue Hill, Me., master of the American schooner today, was killed aboard that vessel some time Tuesday in a fall into the chain locker.

With the death of the skipper the ship was without a navigator and was found and taken into tow by the coast guard cutter Mascoutin about 10 miles off the Virginia coast. The vessel was en route from Boston to Norfolk in ballast to load a cargo of coal.

Left Home Two Weeks Ago Bluehill, Me., July 8.—Mrs. Frank K. Perkins of this town was notified today by telegram of the accidental death of her husband, on his schooner the Cora F. Cressey, off Norfolk, Va., to which port the vessel was bound to load coal.

Captain Perkins left here two weeks ago for Boston to assume command of the Cressey and the trip to Norfolk was his first since he recently returned here from Washington, D. C., where they passed the winter. Captain Perkins is survived also by two sons, and a brother Fred J. Perkins of West Brooksville. He had followed the sea since a boy and had commanded many vessels in coastwise and southern trade.

Seaman Survives After Fight with Sharks and Vultures

Boston, July 8.—(P)—A thrilling story of a two-hour fight for life against sharks and birds of prey in the pitchy blackness of a tropical sea at midnight was being told today by officers of the British steamer Ripley Castle.

The big freighter was just south of the equator, bound from Philadelphia to Capetown, when Tony Madison, a 28-year-old seaman who had come to the deck for air, lost his balance and fell into the water.

In the darkness his fall was unnoticed and he was not missed until an hour later. Captain George Sinclair immediately ordered the ship put about and slowly it retraced its course. Near 2 o'clock in the morning faint cries were heard. Two boys with flares were tossed aboard and Madison was seen struggling in the water.

When the seaman was pulled aboard both legs were bleeding from shark bites and his face was torn and pecked by great birds which had swarmed down on him. Madison's home is in New York City. The Ripley Castle docked here yesterday.

SHOWERS FAIL TO KEEP PRESIDENT INDOORS SECOND DAY

Paul Smiths, N. Y., July 8.—(P)—Overcast skies and occasional showers greeted President Coolidge today on this, the second day of his vacation in the heart of the Adirondacks, but served to curtail his activity only a little.

Elated by his success of the first day as a fisherman, when he landed a three-pound pike after a sharp struggle on the waters of Lake Osgood, and tempted by ideal fishing weather, the chief executive is understood to have tried his luck again behind the wall of trees which guard the lake.

What success attended such an effort, however, was not related, lending credence to the report that the president was not so kind to him as yesterday, although a small pike was said to have been taken from the lake by a camp fisherman during the forenoon. Indisposed.

Inhuman Treatment Young Iowa Farmer By Trio of Assaultants

Tekamah, Neb., July 8.—(P)—Beaten to insensibility, lashed to a log and set adrift in the turbulent waters of the Missouri River, William Decker, young Iowa farmer, and former German army aviator, was taken to face his assailants, as yet unknown.

Decker was in the water more than 12 hours before he was rescued yesterday near Omaha, Ia., by Lee E. L. Scholfield, a local electrician. Unconscious for many hours after his rescue, Decker was unable to furnish any clue as to the identity of his assailants but from mumbled fragments of conversation he pieced together a fragmentary account of an attack by three men who lay him Monday night while he was on the log in the Missouri river, across the river from Omaha, where he operated an island rum farm. While one stood before him with a pistol, the others struck him from behind.

Physicians said that Decker, who is suffering from concussion of the brain, has a good chance of recovery.

Stolen Ride Fatal To Man Found On Electric Engine

New York, July 8.—(P)—The Boston Express pulled into the Woodlawn station early today with the body of a man on the electric engine. Burns indicated that he had been electrocuted.

The police believe, from papers found on the body, that the man was Francis L. Attridge of 28 Attridge street, Brighton, Mass. The body was found by the engineer, Howard Attmore of Port Chester.

Police believe that the man stole a ride on the pilot and came in contact with the electric current.

Boston, July 8.—(P)—Francis L. Attridge, whose body was believed to have been found on the locomotive of the Boston Express in New York this morning, was the victim of a fatal accident on which one of the exceptions was based.

"An American ship on the high seas retains her allegiance to the United States," the decision of the circuit court of appeals recorded. It is quite well recognized that its own subjects to its own laws in every place."

The libel was based upon five alleged charges. First, that the ship was transported aboard the Underwriter; second, that a quantity of intoxicants was found on the vessel; third, that the transportation of intoxicants; fourth, that the Underwriter was engaged for another trade than that for which she was licensed; and fifth, that she was engaged at making a foreign voyage without giving up her enrollment and license as a coastwise vessel.

Recover Body of Man Who Leaped Into Erie Hydraulic Canal

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 8.—(P)—The body of the man who leaped from the Erie Avenue bridge into the hydraulic canal last evening, was recovered in the canal basin today. The body was found by the Erie Canal Authority.

Death plunge said he was a Negro, but the body taken from the canal today is that of a white man. Constable Harry R. Ennes says he feels certain he is the man who leaped from the bridge last evening.

The body is that of a man about 60 years old, five feet tall, weighing about 170 pounds and having gray hair. The fourth and fifth fingers of the left hand are crooked and the middle finger of the right hand is stiff. He wore a blue suit, a gray striped shirt with small black dots and high black shoes, size eight. Laundry marks of "MCM" and "43" were on the man's linen. A postcard bearing the postmark Concord, N. H., the writing on which was made indelible by the water, was the only bit of paper found on the body.

The temperature will continue above normal Friday and Saturday night, but cooler weather will overtake the middle Atlantic and north Atlantic states Saturday night.

Govt. Rests Case in Trial Mayor Quigley

Boston, July 8.—(P)—The government suddenly rested its case today in the trial of Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley of Chelsea and 12 others in Federal court on charges of conspiracy to violate the National prohibition law. This action by the prosecution came soon after Percy Friedman, state convict and a leading witness for the government, had concluded three days on the witness stand.

Taken by surprise, counsel for the defendants asked and received from the court two hours' delay in which to prepare the opening for the defense.

Heroic Crew Submarine S-51 Died at Their Posts

Com. Elsberg Reveals for First Time What Divers Saw as Craft Lay on Bed of Ocean—Body of Radio Operator Rigid Over Keys of Instrument—Others with Hands Stretched Toward Levers—Craft Will Be Opened Today

New York, July 8.—(P)—The dead members of the crew of the submarine S-51 died at their posts, Lieutenant Commander Elsberg said tonight.

As the rusty, torn bulk of the submarine lay in dry dock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Lieutenant Commander Elsberg, for the first time told what the divers working under him saw in the vessel as it lay on the ocean bed off Block Island where she sank after being rammed by the City of Rome last fall.

"The men who were saved were off watch," he said. "While the S-51 was at the bottom divers entered through the hatches and explored her. Every man seen was at his station. Some of them had their hands on valves."

"We saw one man in the engine room, but he was jammed against some controls and we couldn't reach him. He seemed to be sticking to his job to the last. We saw J. M. Schofield, radio operator, at his post, his body rigid in a chair, his head and shoulders bobbing up and down in the green water over the wreckage of the ship."

"We saw the body of another sailor in the engine room, who was stretching his arm out toward a lever as if in an attempt to close an emergency valve."

Lieutenant Elsberg expressed the opinion that the submarine was trying to avoid the City of Rome when she was struck. The periscope was pointed aft, he said, which showed the crew was watching the City of Rome which was coming up behind the port side.

The helm of the S-51, he said, was

No 12-Mile Limit For American Ships Word of Circuit Court

New York, July 8.—(P)—There is no "twelve mile limit" preventing seizure beyond that point for American ships, according to a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals today in reversing a finding in the United States district court of the District of Connecticut. The Connecticut decision had sustained exceptions to a government libel filed against the American rum runner Underwriter.

The Underwriter was seized beyond the twelve mile limit, a fact upon which one of the exceptions was based.

"An American ship on the high seas retains her allegiance to the United States," the decision of the circuit court of appeals recorded. It is quite well recognized that its own subjects to its own laws in every place."

The libel was based upon five alleged charges. First, that the ship was transported aboard the Underwriter; second, that a quantity of intoxicants was found on the vessel; third, that the transportation of intoxicants; fourth, that the Underwriter was engaged for another trade than that for which she was licensed; and fifth, that she was engaged at making a foreign voyage without giving up her enrollment and license as a coastwise vessel.

Justice Department Without Authority In Radio Broadcasting

Washington, July 8.—(P)—Under an opinion rendered by the department of justice today, radio in the United States continues virtually unregulated.

In substance, it held that the commerce department, which sought its advice on the subject after congress failed to pass specific regulatory legislation, was without authority under the commerce act to control broadcasting by the issuance of definite wave lengths.

This was similar to the opinion handed down by the Federal court at Chicago, in deciding a test case against the Zenith Radio Corporation involving alleged "pirating" of an unauthorized wave length. While the full import was not made known, it was announced at the commerce department that its plans would be made public tomorrow along with a statement outlining the department's future plans.

Jap Pleads for Closer Understanding

Tokyo, July 8.—(P)—A plea for closer understanding between Japan and the United States by a prince of the blood imperial, from which public expressions are extremely rare, was made by Prince Asaka, who travelled through America a few months ago. The prince took occasion at a dinner in high terms of hospitality extended by President Coolidge and leading citizens of New York, Washington, and other cities, and urged closer study in both Japan and the United States of the other nation's history, institutions and arts.

President of Bowdoin Declares Stand on So-called Maher Bill

(Special to Kennebec Journal)

Brunswick, Maine, July 8.—In response to a many inquiries President Kenneth C. M. Sils, of Bowdoin College, today made the following statement of his stand on the so-called Maher Bill:

"I am not in favor of the so-called Maher Bill to amend the Constitution of the State so as to prohibit the use of public funds for other than public institutions and public purposes."

"Such an amendment does not at this time seem to be necessary. The present practice of granting state aid to certain academies has worked fairly well. The power to grant such aid rests with the legislature, which may at any time refuse it. There seems to be no danger that the power will not be judiciously used."

"Such an amendment might work temporary and perhaps permanent harm to many good academies."

"But far more important such an amendment might be injurious to many communities. Under the provisions of the bill, as I understand it, no town could send pupils to an academy that is not completely under state control. If the trustees of an academy were for any reason unwilling to turn over their institution to the town, or to submit it to direction by town officials, the town would be under the necessity of building and maintaining a high school of its own. This might result in the mushroom growth of new and necessarily weak high schools, and the withdrawal from many academies of the opportunity to do community service."

If, as some fear, too much state aid is now being given to weak academies, by all means let the legislature make more careful inquiry before granting state aid, and let the town examine more scrupulously the standards of an academy before sending to it pupils on tuition."

The academy has been an important factor in the educational life of the state that one ought not readily to vote for a bill which, however fine in theory, would work practical harm both to academy and community."

Dale's Opponent Withdraws in Vermont Senatorial Contest

Windsor, Vt., July 8.—(P)—Former Governor William W. Miller today withdrew his candidacy for the United States senate for reasons of health. This leaves the present incumbent, Porter H. Dale, the sole aspirant for the Republican nomination.

Mr. Stickney, who is 73 years old, announced his candidacy last May. Today's statement issued at his home here, said that "physical causes of which I was wholly unaware compel me, however unwillingly, to withdraw my candidacy."

"This condition is the result of development and my physicians give me no option but to withdraw immediately and definitely. I was eager for someone to make a fight which I thought should be given to the state with profound regret that I find myself prevented from carrying through by causes beyond my control."

"It is the people and friends in Vermont who have accorded me an exceptionally gratifying reception. I wish to express my appreciation to the multitude of warm friends who have so kindly expressed my cause I express my heartfelt gratitude."

Widowed Mother Of Four Fleeced By Slick Stranger

Boston, July 8.—(P)—Charles-town widow and her four fatherless children were nearly destitute tonight because she trusted a stranger who stole the family savings of $1400 through a time-worn trick.

Mrs. Stelo Miller wept as she told the police today how she had accepted an offer to go into partnership in running a luncheon. The stranger, who had stopped at her home with a young girl, convinced her that profits would be large. She drew her money from the bank and placed it with an equal amount deposited by him in a tin box which he left in her keeping. When she opened the box it contained only worthless paper.

Rumford Man Saves His Small Child From Burning Home

Rumford, Me., July 8.—(P)—Dominick Papasadora saved his ten months old daughter from suffocation early today, while his wife, their other five children and Joseph Vatalara, a lodger, escaped from their burning home. Vatalara discovered the fire and fled through a window with twins, two years of age. Papasadora also escaped by the window.

FIDDLERS' CONTEST and STREET DANCE

Under auspices of Winthrop Post, American Legion, Winthrop, Friday Night, July 9.

July 9th
